WORLD'S BEST SINGLE MALT WHISKY 2015

Kavalan Solist Vinho Barrique Cask Strength Single Malt

Nose: Lots of stewed fruits on the nose. There's also aged Bourbon notes. Water brings out custard creams. Surprisingly smooth on the palate. The alcohol is very present. It's like Bourbon infused milk chocolate. Another nutty, meaty, savoury nose, with sweet notes in the backdrop.

Palate: Very sweet prune-like flavours initially on the palate, with fruit cake and big clove, chilli and dry cinnamon. Walnut and hazelnut on the very dry finish. Immediately and subtly liquor rich. Tiny bit of incense, a thread of spice and smoke.

Finish: Caramel, marzipan, coffee-vanilla, fudge, rich, creamy, dried black fruits. Integrated and surprisingly light. Element of sandalwood. Starts creamy, waters out, almost disappears before rubbing hot brown sugar into the oesophagus. Tiny bitter trace.

Special: $1,830/ btl BUY NOW

Brand Story

The history of Amrut Distilleries is as old as the history of independent India itself. Indeed, just as India is now noted as one of the world's leading economies, so too is Amrut Distilleries an industry leader. In 1948, as India was taking its place as an independent nation, Amrut Distilleries entered the field of liquor making, with an initial investment of a few lakhs. Today's success has been made possible by the resolve of successive generations of the Jagdale family to embrace value and quality.

The company's founder was Shri J.N. Radhakrishna, "J.N.R" as he is fondly known, and under his astute leadership Amrut Distilleries quickly established itself as a significant supplier of Indian Made Liquor (IML) to the military. Amrut Distilleries also grew to be one of the leading suppliers in the state of Karnataka, especially in the old Mysore area.

WORLD'S BEST SINGLE MALT WHISKY 2014

If you haven't yet heard the news, Sullivans Cove Whisky has been named best single malt at the prestigious World Whisky Awards in London.

The French Oak Cask took out the honour, judged against more than 300 other whiskies and it is the first time a Tasmanian distillery has won the award, which has been dominated by Scottish and Japanese distilleries.

Sullivans Cove was established in 1994. Several legal distilleries and countless illegal stills were operating at the beginning of the 19th century in Tasmania. However, in 1838, the Governor imposed a total prohibition on distilling that was only overturned in the early 1990s. Since then, the Tasmanian whisky industry has developed into a small but significant force on the global scene. Made by traditional methods, using 100% Tasmanian water and Tasmanian barley, not chill filtered, no flavours and no colours added. Cask aging in American oak Bourbon barrels and French oak Port Barrels. Each barrel is bottled individually to capture subtle variances that occur from barrel to barrel. Only 15,000 bottles produced each year. The result is one of the best new whiskies on the market – inspired by nature and distilled with conviction.
