Quinault L'Enclos

Same owner as Cheval Blanc

Chateau Quinault L'Enclos has old vines. Many of the vines are close to, or over 50 years of age. The oldest parts of the vineyards were planted all the way back in 1934. The second oldest sector was planted after the frost of 1956.

In 2008 Alain Raynaud sold Chateau Quinault L'Enclos to the owners of Chateau Cheval Blanc, Bernard Arnault and Albert Frère. Today, Pierre Lurton and his talented team from Cheval Blanc now manage Chateau Quinault L'Enclos. After the purchase, the estate switched to organic farming in 2009. In 2012, they earned their certification for being completely organic in their farming methods.

Monbousquet

Same owner as Pavie

Gérard Perse bought Château Pavie from the Vallette family in 1999 for a reported US$31 million, five years after he bought neighboring Château Monbousquet, for US$9m.

The vines are planted to a density of 5,500 vines per hectare. The average age of the vines is 40 years. The terroir of sand, clay and gravel soils is not the best in St. Emilion. The vineyard can be divided into two sections. You find more sand and clay in the north and more gravel in the south. However, Gerard Perse gets the most out of it, starting with seeking out low yields as a way to increase concentration and improve quality. For example, in 2009, the yields were only 28 hectoliters per hectare.
