Vega Sicilia Unico

1995 (OWC12)

2004

Wine Advocate 97: "The 1995 Unico is a worthy successor to the profound 1994 (awarded a score of 98+ in Issue #159). Opaque purple in color, it has aromatic complexity which nearly defies words. There are notes of earth, licorice, hard wood charcoal, and black currants. Full-bodied, and powerful, the wine has beautiful balance with a multi-dimensional character and the structure to last for 25-40 years. The 1960 and the 1965, drunk within the last several months, appear to have many more years ahead." -- Jay S Miller, Feb 2007

Wine Advocate 97: "Moving on to the big guns, the 2004 Unico is truly spectacular, in line with the 1970 and 1994. It's a blend of 87% Tempranillo and 13% Cabernet Sauvignon. Unico has a unique long aging, in the case of the 2004, 15 months in 20,000-liter vats, 25 month in new barrels, 17 months in used barrels and a further 26 months in the big oak vats. It has complex notes of tobacco, cedar wood and blackberries, and shows very good balance between power and elegance as well as perfect ripeness... Drink 2016-2029." -- Luis Gutierrez, Aug 2014

Vega Sicilia Unico 1994 (OWC 3)

Wine Advocate 93: "The 1994 Unico is a blend of 80% Tinto Fino, 13% Cabernet Sauvignon and 5% Merlot (presumably 2% is unknown varieties) that was picked from September 28. It is very intense with notes of raspberry, wild strawberry and mulberry with sensational minerality and vigor. There is a Margaux-like florality to the 1994 that blossom with aeration. The palate is rounded and supple on the entry with great weight and backbone. There is real substance here, similar to the 1996. It expands in the mouth with ravishing notes of blackberry, strawberry, citrus lemon, orange peel and a touch of cedar. There is enormous weight on the finish, a behemoth of a Unico. This is very potent, but it still requires several years in bottle. 96,280 bottles produced. Drink 2019-2040." -- Neal Martin, Aug 2012

ALION –Unlike Vega Sicilia, where vinification is a hybrid of traditional and modern techniques, Alion is made in the modern Bordeaux cru classe style, using state-of-the-art equipment and lots of new oak. Pablo Alvarez, managing director of Vega Sicilia, calls Alion “a wine somewhere between a Ribera del Duero and a Medoc in style”. This wine is 100% Tempranillo, called locally Tinto Fino, and thus identifiably Spanish in flavor and richness. Modern winemaking by Vega’s own highly-talented winemaker Javier Ausas, combined with the use of top-quality new French oak gives Alion an international interpretation that is difficult to resist.

PINTIA – Vega Sicilia set themselves an ambitious challenge when they started purchasing vineyards in Toro in 1997. This region was well known for wines of great character, but little finesse. For 4 years they perfected their style in secret, before finally releasing the 2001 under the name Pintia. The grape is 100% Tina de Toro, a thick-skinned local clone of Tempranillo. The vega team carefully vinify the wine to extract only the finest tannins and maintain aromatic purity, and age 1 year in the highest quality French and American oak barrels. Pintia displays the style and class (elegance even!!) of a Vega Sicilia Group wine, but with the extra spicy, forefully presence of a Toro.

VALBUENA 5 – Made from younger vines (average vine age of 20-25 years), and in years when Unico is not produced grapes normally destined for Unico will go into Valbuena. It is only released after 5 years' ageing. Comprised of 95% tempranillo, 5% merlot.

UNICO – the flagship and signature Gran Reserva wine, made up of mostly Tempranillo (approximately 80%), Cabernet Sauvignon, and is usually released 10 years after aging in barrels and bottles. If Vega Sicilia’s winemaker is dissatisfied with the quality of the harvest of any year, the winery will refuse to produce a single bottle of Unico, which happened four times in the last 2 decades: 1992, 1993, 1997 and 2001.

UNICO RESERVA ESPECIAL – A mixture of wines from the best harvest from which the most representative wine of the winery. “Reserva Especial” is a wine with the greatest personality, that combines complexity of the Unico multiplied by different vintages and provides us with a high range of aromas, pure elegance in a never-ending flow through the magic of a myth. Only the best Unicos are used to produce Reserva Especial; a mix of years, virtues, experiences and sentiments that serves only to profile the most profound essence of a unique and unrepeatable style, the VEGA SICILIA style.

TOKAJI OREMUS – As a legendary estate, Vega-Sicilia set its sights on another legendary name, a vineyard known as Oremus, which had produced the first Aszú wine in 1650. Vega-Sicilia purchased the estate after the break up of the Hungarian state monopoly in 1993. A state-of-the-art winery, rediscovered by Vega-Sicilia's meticulous work, with a single and noble aim: producing the best wines following the last centuries' traditions.
