WineWorld team has shortlisted 10 champagnes that we love for their value and quality!

Dear customer,

December is just a few weeks away - we know everyone is scouting out for well-priced champagnes for festive season. WineWorld team wants to be a little more helpful than just offering you great prices.

To help you with your bubbly selection, WineWorld team has put together a Top 10 holiday champagne list. These champagnes are all great value for money, where about half the selection comes from well-known champagne houses, the rest are hidden gems that are on the rise to greatness.

A special mention to Lombardi, a young boutique house from the southerly Cote des Bars subregion of Champagne. They are on the rise to greatness, especially after receiving recognition from international wine critics and media including Parker, Decanter, Wine Spectator and the like.

Delamotte Brut NV

WineWorld Recommends!

Wine Advocate 91:

“...It is clear, round and spicy on the predominantly fruity and vinous nose with its delicate chalk and hazelnut flavors. On the palate this is a lithe, finessed, fresh and elegant Brut with good structure and a pure, salty-mineral and cleansing finish. The mousse is highly delicate, the whole performance almost filigreed yet well structured. This is a delicious Brut...”

Wine Spectator 92:

“Well-knit, integrating a firm backbone of acidity and a fine, lightly creamy texture with flavors of patisserie apple, pastry, blanched almond and meringue. A smoky hint of minerality gains momentum on the finish. Drink now through 2018.”
