First released in 1983, Shafer's flagship wine Hillside Select encapsulates Shafer's rich, opulent style. Shafer fans are not unfamiliar with the story of how founder John Shafer, who recently passed away, "unintentionally" created the Shafer style, which eventually become modern Napa style. Essentially, when John Shafer started, he did not have enough staff and thus harvesting was delayed and his grapes came in riper than others back in the 70s. This gives an opulent, rounder and more concentrated wine style which becomes soon preferred.

When aged, Shafer Hillside Select tends to integrate harmoniously whilst not losing any ounce of flamboyance it was born with. We have a few bottles of back vintage Shafer Hillside Select for Shafer fans. Limited stock - first come first served!
